Retail Stocktaking & Inventory Services

In recent years, shifts in the global economy and advances in technology have brought great changes to the manufacturing and retail sectors. Becoming leaner and more efficient has become necessary simply to survive, which is why an increasing number of businesses are turning to OCS.

Whilst part of a diverse group offering a wide range of services, retail stocktaking remains our core business.

We pride ourselves on providing a service that's second to none, which accounts for why we're trusted by many of the world's largest retailers and are regarded as the UK's market leader - a position we work hard to maintain

At the heart of any successful business are its people. We employ in excess of 2,000 stocktaking and audit personnel throughout the country, all of whom have been individually vetted for suitability and given the appropriate training. Their performance is also monitored, during each and every count, by our experienced management teams and regular performance reviews are conducted to ensure that consistently high levels of productivity are always achieved.

The key to effective stocktaking is accuracy. To ensure that we provide only the most accurate stock count data, without compromising efficiency, our audit personnel are equipped with state-of-the-art handheld terminals and radio frequency communications equipment so that data can be collected and relayed instantly. Our teams are also supported by an IT department capable of writing bespoke software solutions to meet the individual reporting requirements of our customers. The detailed reports we provide can include separate count information for the sales floor or stockroom, or any number of specific locations, to give customers a fast and accurate picture of their business operation - essential knowledge in today's fast-moving retail sector.

Every aspect of our service is co-ordinated and overseen by our Contract Management Team, each of whom is responsible for a small number of customers. They provide a single point of contact for day-to-day enquiries and round-the-clock support where required.

So for retail stocktaking, our unique combination of experience, personnel and facilities all add up to make OCS Retail Support the right choice.
