Seasonal Labour

Seasonal Labour

Many retailers already utilise temporary labour during peak periods, but finding experienced and motivated staff for short-term requirements isn't easy. That's where OCS can help.

As the UK's market leader, at OCS Retail Support we have a large labour force that carries out a variety of retail duties. We are able to utilise our workforce in many other roles within the environment with which they are already familiar.

Recruited for their reliability in a role that demands keen attention to detail, all of our staff are trustworthy, highly trained and experienced. Many also possess excellent IT skills. They have the ability to fit in to a wide range of retail positions, either on the sales floor, back-of-house or within distribution centres.

Our nationwide coverage also means that we have seasonal staff strategically placed throughout the country, available to work shifts seven days a week. Our seasonal labour service is designed to free up the time of the store manager, allowing the store team to focus on maximising profits. So whether its the need to replenish stock, or assist with rear yard duties, OCS Retail Support can provide the resource to bring your team to full strength.
